Individual Checklist

As part of the EcoAction project, we recognise the crucial role individuals play in shaping their lifestyles and impacting the environment through their daily choices and habits. This individual checklist serves as a guide to encourage awareness of the environmental impact of our decisions.

Designed to empower each person, it fosters consciousness about the consequences of every choice we make. Reflecting on the environmental impact is central to this process, offering opportunities for self-improvement and contributing to a more sustainable future. While some aspects may be influenced by household dynamics, the items on this list are within our direct control, allowing us to make informed decisions that prioritise environmental stewardship.

While some actions may be easier to implement than others, the primary goal remains empowering individuals to make informed choices without judgement, offering a pathway towards a more sustainable lifestyle.
